The general outlines of the British plan also are taken in American quarters to be in consonance with the generally crystalizing idea here that the league probably would be projected as a sort of a guardianship for smaller nations, extending international assistance for the development and preservation of economic and mancial as well as military sovereignty. It is pointed out in American circles, however, that a full measure of comparison cannot be made until President Wilson makes a statement of his own

MARKET BILL BEFORE LEGISLATURE WOULD AID STATE FARMERS

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]

Madison, Wis., Jan. 25.—For some unaccountable reason fewer bills have been offered so far in the legislature than at any previous session. About ten days remains for the introduction of bills by individual members. The older members of the legislature believe that this is a sure sign that Wisconsin is going to have a short session of the legislature this year.

"From present indication this will be a short session of the legislature," said Senator A. H. Wilkinson today. "I believe that when the finance bills are pushed out onto the floor and the main work of the session is concluded the other members will not want to stay to consider unimportant legislation."

The committee hearings of the legislature have already started. Several hearings are scheduled for next week and Speaker Young is anxious that all bills introduced be bulletined ationce.

Janesville's annual lair this year will be bigger and better than ever. That was the unanimous verdiet of the officers and stockholders of the Janes-ville Park Association at a meeting held last evening at the city hall. The spirit of the meeting was enthusiastic. Every member present was unanimous in that every possible thing will be done to make the fair this year one unsurpassed in the history of Janes-ville.

Not only were plans made for making the fair the best, but the debt of the association will be cleared off as soon as possible. George E. Sutherland gave a short talk on the financial condition of the association. The Janesville Park association is incorporated for $50,000. $13,000 of this stock is unsold and in the treasury. If this stock is sold the association will be out of debt. Mr. Sutherland announced that he would take another share of stock. Santord Soverhill said he would take another share of the stock. It was then decided to form a committee to sell the remaining stock. The following members were chosen: Chairman, Sanford Soverhill. F. P. Croak, W. T. Dooley. Thornton Reed and J. B. Francis, John C. Kennedy and Harry Nowlan. Mr. Sutherland discussed plans for furthering the interest of the cattle and stock exhibits and stated that he would donate $25 for the best Rock county Shorthorn bull exhibit at the fair in September. E. H. Ransom then offered to donate $25 as a prize for the best Shorthorn cow, while Dr. Wayne Munn announced that he would give $15 for the best Guernsey helfer under one year of age, exhibited. Rather than see the pigs go uninounced in the heat of Duroc boar and Duroc sow. Sanford Soverhill announced that he would donate a sum for the best Holstein calf ralsed by a Rock County boy, under 19 years.

John C. Nichols of Sheboygan, who so succossfully started the Chamber of Commerce, said that Janes-

J.P. Cullen, representing the Chamber of Commerce, said that Janesville business houses would be closed on Janesville day. Mr. Sutherland announced that the Bower City bank would sall tickets free of charge, so that the expense of ticket selling, would be done away with.

The board of directors elected officers: Dr. Wayne Munn was named president; E.H. Ransom, vice prosident; Harry Nowlan, treasurer and F.P. Croak, secretary. The following will serve as directors with the officers of the association: Thornton Reed, Edward Amerpoill, and Dr. Guy C. Wauffe. E. H. PETER BAYS BUYS CREAMERY

Control of the Universal Creamery company passed from the hands of the company, an Illinois corporation with a capital stock of $20,000 to Peter Bays, former manager and vice president of the concern, yesterday. Mr. Bays has been indentified with the company since its start in Janesville three years ago and was the first man to pay association prices for milk in Janesville.

Mr. Bays will also maintain an interest in a Greek cheese, manufacturing plant at Leaf River, Ill., as well as his interest in the confectionary store of Bays Brothers at Dundee, Ill.

It was through his efforts that the manufactur of Greek cheese was continued in the United States as he supported its manufacture many years, finally building it up to a big and profitable industry, bringing to this country a new industry and to Janesville a manufacturing concern of no small size.

Soft Coal Users ATTENTION!

Make Your Soft Coal Burn Like Hard Coal

Imperfect combustion is the cause of all the disagreeable results of hurning soft coal. Much of the coal does not burn. Some of it goes up in too much black smoke. Some of it makes soot, which in turn coats your flues and prevents radiation of heat. A large part is wasted. SUT-NOT makes for perfect combustion. It causes all of the coal to burn without waste. SUT-NOT keeps your flues clean so that the heat can be efficiently radiated. It burns smoke, soot and ashes and in so doing this cuts your bills 20% to 30%.

The cheapest soft coal, treated with SUT-NOT, burns like bard coal,

"To begin with, to be an Enk you must be an American. The Elks eliminated the hyphen long before war made that symbol unpopular in these United States. The Elks are at exclusive. They don't care whether a man is Jew or Gentile, Catholic or Protestant. They're not particular about his tailor and they're not intertary age.

Help Where Needed and at Once.

"The first step the Elks took toward organizing their war work was the appointment of the Elks War Relief Commission, on June 2, 1917. John K. Tener, who is about equally proud of Tener, who is about equally protein of having been governor of Pennsylvania and President of the National League, headed the commission and has been giving up nearly all his time to its work since his appointment. His fellow workers—and their names ought to be known!—were Joseph T. Fan-ning, Jerome B. Fisher, James R. Nicholson, Edward Rightor and Fred

"Tener's commission began by consulting with the Red Cross and the War Department. In July it reported to the Grand Lodge that the first thing to be done was the establishment of base hospital units, to be equipped by the Elks and operated by the War Department. Immediately the Grand Lodge voted a million dollars and of $2,049.88.

Losses paid during the year were $3,724.19, while compensation to agents amounted to $540.62. Cash received for premiums totaled $1,996.54 and from assessments $3,165.52.

The board of directors was reclected and business prospects for the year and business prospects for the year described that if a million dollars discussed.

"It's not surprising to read about the tremendously, good work done by the Red Cross, the Y. M. C. A. and similar, organizations, but who has ever heard anything of what the Elks have done? Very quietly and unostentatiously they've been doing their full share—which is why this article is doubly interest-

One reason was, I magine, that the war crowded the likes out of house and home so thoroughly. They gave up their clubous and their lodge rooms to the Red Cross all over the country, you know.

Sometimes they kept one room in a big building for their meetings; sometimes they just borrowed a room when they had to have it.

OUR SATURDAY NIGHT

Here at home when they sang on the corner, We used to pass heedlessly by;
Though the Salvation Army was toiling,
But few of us understood why.
But now we've been over to Flanders
And then—face to face with the Hun!
There the Salvation Army girls served us
And stuck till the structlessurg won? And stuck till the struggle was won!

'As night settled down o'er the trenches, There, homesick and lonely, we'd stand, Watching close where the star-shells were lighting. The stretches of No Man's Land! Then wo'd hear the soft voice of a woman, As she served us hot coffee and bread— Twas our Doughnut Girl cheering the doughboys Right there, amid the quick and the dead!

Do you think we could ever forget her As she mothered us all in the fight—Putting home and good cheer in the coffee And encouraging men to the right? Why, man while there's breath in our bodies We will revorence the Salvation lass. Who fought with her doughnuts in Flanders That we might face shot, shell and gas!

Armed with her pies and her doughnuts, e was constantly cheering us through Her smiles beaming out in the danger, Her words and her deeds true blue! She was mother and sister and brother To the doughboys in that bloody whirl;

In deepest respect we salute her—
Forever she's our Doughnut Girl.
—Elmore Lefflngwell in "The War Cry."

* # # # # ...

It would seem at first glance that to link up a doughnut and a man's soul in any sort of a combination would be difficult. A definition of a man's soul perhaps may be given as that spiritual part of his being which remains mysterious, unsolved, during the span of life. It is that part of a man which inspires him to do things; it is his conscience which awakens him to right and wrong no matter what his belief in spiritual things.

A doughnut—anyone knows what a doughnut is—anyone who has been a boy or girl at some time in his or her life. It is that old-fashfoned dainty which mother used to make, and at the sight of which the memories of the old home kitchen come back; memories of the big pitcher of milk on the cleanly scoured table, the old earthen crock heaped high with the crisp, brown goodies.

Can you blame a soldier boy, thousands of miles from home, lonely and worn by the stress of battle, being touched by the service such as was rendered by those Salvation Army lasses who braved the dangers of the greatest war ever fought? Can you see the connection between the doughnut and the soul?

No matter how hardened a man might become as the result of his part in a conflict which called for the slaying of his fellow, he could not withstand the gentle appeal of those young women who were willing to sacrifice their lives that he might obtain one moment of comfort. It is not the doughnut or the coffee that makes the boys who fought in the trenches and on the battlefields, swear by the Salvation Army. It was the unselfish service which was rendered with that spirit of sisterly love which awakened all the good in those who accepted the homely gifts. The women did not preach religion; they asked nothing in return for the part they played; they merely sought every opportunity to hearten those who were up against the hardest fight of their lives. 'And although they did not preach religion, their unselfish devotion to the boys awakened that conscience—that immortal part of those men-to the fact that there was good in the world. That all was not last for blood.

A typical description of the Salvation Army's part in the war is given by a member of the staff, writing in the War Cry and furnishes interesting reading as well as an insight to how the work was carried on. The scene is laid along the road which was traversed by the Army of Occupation enroute to the Rhine. It

"For days the American troops were pressing forward in long Rhaki columns of infantry, supported and supplied by apparently unending trains of artillery, ammunition and supply wagons-all splashing steadily forward through the interminable rain and mud, on to the Rhine, with Coblenz as the particular objective. * * *

"Though the thrills and excitement of active hostilities were missing-and gladly so-yet there was tremendous need for the small body of Salvationists who, in spite of their war-torn trucks, managed not only to keep up with the troops, but even to get ahead and furnish, by the roadside, hot coffee (500 gallons at a time) to the wet, cold and weary troops, and also in temporary huts to supply the boys with candy and other supplies-sometimes even including the historic doughnut-also writing-paper, pens, ink and a place to write. Thousands of letters were written (which the Salvationists helped to make possible) on that march. Not alone were the bodies and minds of the soldier boys looked after, but meetings were held and many lads dealt with personally. Not only R.M. Bostwick & Son do the boys indorse the coffee and other physical comforts provided by The Salvation Army, but also their religion is well received—long lines of doughboys would stand reverently in the rain, cap in hand, while a blessing was asked before coffee was served, and in our meetings perfect order was kept, while the men joined heartily in the singing.

In one temporary hut The Salvation Army, the K. of C. and the Red Cross worked harmoniously together and had a good time serving the doughboys. One incident of the road is worth repeating, as it shows the spirit existent between the American officers and their men and The Salvation Army.

One major had halted his men by the steaming coffee-kettle, but refused to taste a drop himself until he had personally seen that the last of his boys had been able to take advantage of the Salvationists' hospitality. Then the major's turn came when, to the astonishment of the Salvationists, a private ran up through the mud and rain with a tray on which was a clean napkin, covering some daintily cut sandwiches which he handed to the major. The trouble it must have given to provide so dainty a lunch, under such circumstances, can easily be imagined. 'They take good care of you, major,' said a Salvationist. 'Well, thunder,' said the private, 'don't our major take good care of us!' Other equally illuminating scenes and acts were witnessed on that historic march, which proved beyond doubt the happy understanding existing between officers and men."

GREAT MOMENTS.

There come great moments to us all,
When flashes of the truth we see—
As when we dare to stand or fall
For honor or for liberty;
Or putting earthly fame aside
And, unafraid of scorn or pain,
We choose to suffer and be tried
To keep our souls without a stain.

Not always is our vision clea-Not always can we see aright.
Life has so much confusion here
That truth is blurred and hid from sight.

But still there come to every man
Great moments when he understands
The glory of the Master's plan,
And then it is his soul expands.

He that has stood beside the bier Of one he loved, has seen how value and the treasurers that men gather here, How trivial are loss and gain. He that has cooled a fevered brow And sought the hand of death to stay. Has learned that all to grief must bow, Nor gold nor fame can spare the clay.

There come great moments to us all When itishes of the truth we see— When we discover just how small Things are which mighty seemed to

And in those moments, roubled, tried,
We rise above all selfish gain

And put the joys of earth aside

MEAT SCANDALS.

It is not, surprising that there should be a couple of army meat scandals in Europe Without a few of those it wouldn't be a war. Away back in history we find them. Didn't somebody ask, "Upon what meat doth this our Caesar feel that he hath grown so great?". Nohody could answer. They were supicious of the meat even in those ancient days. What did the soldiers talk most of in our own civil war? The war? No, the punk meat they had to cat. Some of them are talking about it yet. It isn't necessary to mention the Spanish war and the embalmed beef. The first thing to do in any war is to make arrangements for the meat scandal. The raising of the army is an after consideration. We pause to wonder if the life and fire insurance is bad. Years ago we used to get so many calendars at this time of the year that we had to shovel a path to the desk and throw them out of the window. Nowadays when we want to find out what date it is to put same on the top of this newspaper we have to send the office boy down to the postoffice. There are moments when we wish we had saved-some of those calendars we threw away so recklessly. Waste not, want not.

the $4,000 city quota can be raised with two or three days.

Senator Whitehead, chairman of the Rock county committee, said that he expected the matter to be entirely completed within two weeks. The county campaign will start immediately. William A. Hart of Avalon and H. O. Holt of Edgerton were present at the meeting yesterday.

The campaign will be managed through the same body that had charge of the Red Cross fund. Senator Whitehead outlined plans for securing the quota expeditiously. Field Secretary Royes of the state committee at Milwaukee talked on the need for the Armenian and Syrian relief.

The third of the Armenian relief ships, chartered from the government transport service by the national committee sailed Jan. 23 with thousands of tons of food and a big group of relief workers. The ship was the Pensacola, with a cargo of about 8,000 tons of foodstuffs for Beirut and Constantinople distributing headquarters. This is three transports in a week to have sailed with food, and the value of the shipments totaled $4,000,000.

Confident that the nation would "come through" with the $30,800,000 asked for their relief; work, the National Food Administration advanced this enormous amount of foodstuffs on credit. The committee is required to purchase all its supplies, but the food administration sold the food on credit, this credit being based on faith in the American people's readiness to always ald the suffering. The shipment could not wait for the actual, receipt of money, for a single month's delay would mean 20,000 dead of starvation in Armenia alone.

RURAL SCHOOL PUPILS URGED TO PREPARE EXHIBITS FOR FAIR

Fifteen jobless discharged soldiers are in the city. Fred J. Schmidt, manager of the United States employment bureau stated today. Some of the men he said, have hardly enough money to buy food, and not enough to go elsewhere to look for work.

Janesville's employers, with two exceptions, have given men mustered out of the service their former positions, but work must be furnished for others who are here because the old jobs are not open to them, or because of a premature rumer that an unlimited number of men will be taken on at the Samson Tractor plant, immediately. One soldier, formerly employed in the service and can not go buck to his old position. He wants work as a clerk.

An expert mechanic who volunteered when the United States entered the conflict is without employment. Ho has a wife and family to support, and must secure a job immediately. An entertaining and enjoyable feature of the program of the Arden Entertainers, who appear here Wednesday, Jan. 29, on the lyceum course, will be their interpretation of Hawaiian music.

Hawaiian music has become deservedly popular all over the country and in deciding to devote a part of their entertainment to this realm of music the four young ladies who pake up the Arden company have struck upon a happy idea and one which has proved to be unusually acceptable to their audiences.

In their interpretation of this music the Ardens appear on the platform

In their interpretation of this music the Ardens appear on the platform in the native Hawaiian dress. Each is a mistress of the ukelele, the instrument which is peculiar to Hawaii. The mingling of the plaintive tones of the ukelele with the voices of the quartet produces an effect of weird beauty which will please everyone.

The Hawaiian sketch is just one of Janot Stedman had carded her living since she was sixteen. She had been fairly well equipped for a business life by her inheritance. She had come of "nice" people. That is, her parents were educated and refined, although dad had never made much of a living he had always managed to provide a decent home and fed his family well.

It had never been hard for Janet to get work. She was good looking, neatly dressed, fairly educated, possessed of that priceless gift, personality, and was eager to adventure into life and the earning of money.

She had usually left piaces of her own accord to do better. Her employers had been mostly successful, busy, high-class men. They had not pursued her with cvil intentions. That is, not often.

Now and then some man lacking of perception made an attempt to ingratiate himself. Janet ignored his efforts, sometimes with dignity, sometimes with humor, occasionally with severity, but always effectually. Indeed, she had often wondered why girls suffered so through the machinations of men.

One night the subject arose through a paragraph Walt read out of his evening paper.

"That reminds me." grinned Walt, "you've never told me any of your adventures in the business world, Jan. You must have had bunches of them—a girl with your looks."

"Mighty few," laughed Janet, and somehow the subject dropped.

The very next day, however, something happened at the office that reminded her of the incident and showed her why some girls are "pursued."

Janet had a small roof opening off the sulte used by the tenement commissioner, David Temple. She usually came and went through Temple's rooms. But there was a door leading from her office into the main office, where many persons worked.

Janet was supprised when this door opened and a girl with flushed face and tear-wet eyes came hastily look you up at the dopr."

He bothers all the girls—you know that, that,"
Janet didn't know it. In fact, she had never noticed Prader any more than to give him messages from Temple or receive reports and business details from him now and then. And she had been too busy with her own affairs to notice what went on, so-cially speaking, in the outer office. Now her conscience smote her. At the same time, she had scant sympathy to Millies in general.

Millie read this in Janet's face, and renewed her pleading.

At that moment, however, Temple called her to help on some important work. The teary, white face of Millie mpressed her. Turning, she said work. DON'T APOLOGIZE TOO MUCH.

Are you by any-chance one of those people who are always apologizing? There is such a woman in my circle of friends and she has just recalled the fact to my mind by one of her little notes of explanation and apology. What happened was this: She had spoken of a small convenience in my home that she particularly liked. It was a very tiny thing, and the next time I went to town I sent her one like it. An instead of being pleased, as I wanted her to be she was all upset because she was afraid I would think she had been hinting. She didn't mind asking for anything outright, she said, but she hated to seem to hint. As a matter of fact, the thought had never entered my head. I had just been pleased at the opportunity, to do a little kindness to one who has done many for me.

I Do Mind the Exaggeration.

Now I shall have to answer her note of apology and set her mind a trest. And I do rather mind having so little.

Jon't you think that's a pretty good.

Notes on Red Cross Work

(Arranged by Mrs. Abbie Helms.)
Mrs. J. R. Whiffen, who has been at the head of the local committee in making out the role of nurses in the county, is rapidly getting her material into shape, so that when it is completed there will be an accurate record of the nursing resources of each community of the county. This movement by the Red Cross is nationwide, and it is expected in this way to furnish useful data if this kind of service is needed in any part of the country for an emergency.

The officials of the local workshop announce that there is plenty of work on hand to last all of next week.
There are pajamas, layettes and petti-

STOMACH UPSET?

Get at the Real Cause - Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of taking tonics, or trying to patch up a poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment — clogged liver and disordered bowels.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets arouse the liver in a soothing, healing way. When the liver and bowels are performing their natural functions, away goes indigestion and stomach troubl If you have a bad taste in your mouth, tongue coated, appetite poor, lazy, don't-care feeling, no ambition or energy, troubled with undigested foods, you should take Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color. They do the work without Doctors didn't know. Anyway, Mr. Baker is well now. Feels like he did at sixteen.

"One year ago in September I was taken down couldn't eat sleep or work. The doctors didn't know exactly what was the matter. Some said I had catarrhal gastritis, some said consumption, and others, chacer. Anyway, I was given up to die.

"A friend persuaded me to try Miks Emulsion. In 2 or 2 weeks, the soreness went out of my lungs, the aching pains vanished from between my shoulders, and I began to eat and sleep, and work a little. Also the miserable lonesome feedlar began to tear loose, and that heavy weight in the left side of my stomach, that hung like a huge from ball, disappeared.

"By the time I had taken 21 bottles I could cat anything, sleep like an infant, and the old time vim and nerve had come back. I felt like I did when I was sixteen." Lyman Baker, Star Rotte, Berryville, Ark.

The old rule is, get the stomach and bowels working right, and most ailments start to leave. Strength comes back, flish is regained, and the whole system begins to fight disease. Milks Emutsion is guaranteed, so it costs nothing to try.

Milks Emulsion is a pleasant nutritive food and a corrective medicine. It restores healthy, natural bowel action, doing away with all need of pills and physics. It promotes appetite and quickly puts the digestive organs in shape to assimilate food. As a builder of flesh and strength, Milks Emutsion is strongty recommended to rundown nervous people, and it has produced amazing rosults in many cases of tuberclubesis of the lungs. Chronic stomach trouble and constipation are promptly relieved—usually in one day. It works like magic on coughs and coids.

Legerement, ye ment!

"Helas! zat was de long tam ago!" sighed the wandering fiddler from Vincennes, Michel de Richardville, bending over his bow. Where were now those ancient houses of the Old Post-the Cardinals, the Andres, the Burdaleaux, the Racines, the Laderoux? "Vincennes, and a long time ago!" Now it was Corydon and the present, with all it's coursing blood in young veins and its fine forgetfulness of the days gone by. Laughing girls and tall youths went into the dre, plunging the room into instant flower-decked hall of the Bulleit darkness. David heard the sharp cabla, or, slipping out again, wannower-decked hall of the Bulleit dered down two by two in the mystical summer night, beneath the silent stars, to the bank of Indian creek. hurrying by on its long way to the A lonely youth stood in the shadows and watched the white, glimmering shapes of the maidens, each with her backwoods cavalier, go by. A pang of envy shot through him as he heard their light remarks and lighter laughter. He was as young and strong as they, he thought, wistfully. Was life always to withhold some of its gifts from him?

Mr. O'Bannon, strolling deep in reveries of the past, encountered the lonely youth in the starlight and recognized him with an elaculation of

"Ha! David, my old one, what are you doing here alone? When I was your age never a dance 'did we have that saw me not in the thick of it. Go up and join them, sober-sides,"

David muttered a miserable Confession,-which the old gentleman would first weapon that had come to hand. have none of.
"No clothes, indeed! Since when were buckskins not as good as broadcloth here in the woods? No luvitation! Fiddlesticks! everyone is welcome with us."

And he dragged the reluctant youth toward the lights and music.

The gracious lady of the house re-ceived him at the old man's introduction, with kindly smiles for David's shyness; but he was acutely ill at ease, nevertheless, among the group of young matrons who clustered at Mrs. Bulleit's side in their silks and dainty pustins-treasures in the wilderness-and he was glad to escape to the harrow veranda, where a group of older men conversed in quiet tones upon the affairs of the Territory. He turned to a young man:
"Mr. Blackford," he said, "I believe that you have the distinction of being graduated from the same college which President Madison attended. I myself was a student at Hampden-Sidney college; but I remember hearing my father once say that, besides the institution which was the firstborn of all American colleges-his own college of William and Marythere was but one which a Virginian might attend wilhout doing violence to his family traditions; he might, if he had no soul, go to Harvard, or, if he had no stomach, go to a nutmeg institution at New Haven; but as a Virginian and a gentleman he would go to Princeton."

Blackford laughed. He was a young lawyer who had just arrived in the territory, the first of the galaxy of young men bred in the eastern coleges who were to achieve distinction in the new country. His face had attracted David Larrence singularly; there was something in the man's fine, straightforward look that drew him like a brother. And here was an opportunity; he could now gratify through Blackford an ambition he had secretly nourished for some time, to study law in the evenings. He was growing restless with no greater occupation than measuring silk and calicuts over a store counter. And the law would be a step—one step at the law counter. law would be a step-one step at least—toward Toinette. "Have you ever met the president,

Mr. Blackford?" Harrison went on. "Once only, Governor Harrison. I 'shall never forget seeing him at our commencement exercises last September; he was there with his two classmates, Philip Freneau and Judge Brackenridge of Pittsburgh. They were great cronles while in college, believe. One saw them wandering under the elms with their arms around one unother's shoulders, laughing at some nonsensical ballad about smoking that Mr. Frencau had writ-

"Freneau is our greatest poet," said Harrison, "Surely his beautiful lines on "The Indian Burying Ground," his exquisite ode to 'The Wild Honeysuckte,' and that matchless dirge for the dead who fell at Eutaw Springs will live forever."

And in his deep and resonant voice. his face shrouded in the shadows of the veranda, he began to recite that splendid elegy. For a while no one spoke. Each was thinking of the shadow of war with England that seemed deepening with the days; of the closer, more terrible shadow of the Indian.

Someone began to speak of President Madison's policy of diplomatic correspondence with England, and his attempts to settle the maritime disputes penceably.

Spier Spencer, the hot-headed—David's host at the tavern—was about to reply that it was more intolerable to endure the insults of Britain than to plunge the country into honorable war, when his young wife and a bevy of radiant women made a sudden rush from within and the gentlemen were led captive to the great silver punchbowl, where officiated a grinning ducking, berufiled darky.

We are selling "across the counter" direct to Milwaukee and Wisconsin people an issue of $3,600,000 of 7%, 5-year, bond-secured Gold Notes of The Milwaukee Electric Railway & Light Company. More than a million dollars' worth of the Notes have been bought in the first 30 days, mostly by Milwaukee people who know the Company and the property. Issuance and sale of these Notes was authorized by the Wisconsin Railroad Commission to finance the growth of greater Milwaukee's electric service system. Principal of the Notes will be repaid in cash Nov. 1, 1923.

These Notes are on sale in $50, $100. $500 and $1,000 sizes. They sell at par. Your Notes start drawing 7% interest for you from the day you buy them. You draw interest twice a year -May 1 and Nov. 1-by simply cutting off your interest coupon, taking it to the nearest bank, and getting cash for it. These Notes are readily saleable in case of need.

Milwaukee is as solidly prosperous as any city in the world. This Company supplies virtually all of Milwaukee's electric power, light, heat and transportation services. The State-appraised value of the property back of the Notes exceeds funded debt by over $16,000,000. The State rate regulation law assures a reasonable yearly return on State-appraised value. Besides being a general obligation of The Milwaukee Electric Railway & Light Company, these Notes are further secured by deposit of $4,500,000 of 40-year bonds of the Milwaukee Light, Heat & Traction Company with the First Trust Company of Milwaukee as Trustee for the Note buyers. These Companies, thus joint guarantors of these Notes. during their twenty-two years in business have never failed to pay on the due date every dollar of their obligations, with interest as agreed. Is YOUR MONEY earning 7% with equal SAFETY? If not, we shall be glad to sell you some of these Notes.

Janesville buyers and vicinity are ASKED TO ORDER FROM THE MERCHANTS & SAVINGS BANK OR DIRECT FROM THE COMPANY. . Adoress: SECURITIES DEPART-MENT, Public Service Building, Milwaukee, Wisconsin. You can send payment with order, or, if you wish it, we will deliver the Notes in care of your home bank, C. O. D. If your home banker sell you something else paying a lower interest rate, you can tell him the Milwaukee banks have bought hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of these Notes, for themselves and their customers.

THE DOT DRAWING CLASS

"When you were learning to spell." explained the Dot Drawing teacher, you learned to make the letters of the alphabet. And that is one kind of rawing that you will never forget. And you will find it very easy to work are letters into bigger drawings. Now, I always find the letter 'A' very andy when I am making decorations for a Hallowe'en party." "Why?" asked Reggie.

"Well." said the Dot Drawing teacher, "I always have to make pictures cats, and pumpkins and bats, and I never finish without taking A and aking a head of a

ON MISSOURI RIVER BANKS.

By Perry C. Darby.

The purpling twilight's melting blue is fading with its transient lue; The red cloud that reevelhig dot not the Missouri river. Issae McLellan.

My old friend Vie Engleman and I were shooting from the amand I were shooting from the same blind on the Missouri river in southwater of the morthwest and the temperature to the northwest and the temperature in the north down the Missouri river. They were going south by the housant of a sand har and the current was strong against the bar. All our daks dropped in the river where the current was swift, and Same line work, petriarying thirty-two ducks and five geess from the ieccold water. He would never falter for one moment, and way from us, with Sandy in pursuit. At times they would both dispera in the tossing yellow waters, but all the fire would never falter for one moment in the same fine. The wind many from us, with Sandy in pursuit, it was some fine race. The wind sail the fire they come will be drowned. But the same fine race with the disperant in the tossing yellow waters, but all the fire Sandy was designed from the increase of the wind all the fire sandy was designed from the fire of the wind all the fire of more moment. and sailed right over our heads so close we could feel the wind from their wings, but they never discovered us at all and alighted just over beyond the decoys. The others made one swing, coming within about 80 yards of us. There was a mighty trumpeting as they drew near. We raised up and with our automatics making good, we got revenge. When it was over, seven into birds law in the throes of death stretched on the sand, their ashen breasts upturned.

"Look!" Vic exclaimed, as he cast his eye toward the vanishing flock, "there goes one down stone dead," and we saw him disappear behind the willows. "We can get him in the morning."

"Not so had for boys," remarked vic as he took me by the hand in a good-natured way, his face wreathed in smiles. Thus ended for us a day of deepest joy and as the sun was setting behind the clouds there came a last golden reflection of its rays over the safron waters.

New York, Jan. 25.—Stocks opened with an impressive demonstration of strength today, announcement of the lifting of the ban on credits causing hurried covering of shorts. Virtually all of the rise was lost, however, when profit taking set in. Weakness of several Issues, notably Brooklyn transit and Mexican petroleum contributed to the latter unsettlement. Temporary gains, were most extensive in oils, motors, steels, equipments and shippings, extremes advances ranging from 1 to 3 points but these were finally replaced in Several noteworthy instances by reactions of greater extent. The close was heavy. Sales approximated 400.000 shares. Bonds including liberty issues were steady.

The stock market opened with a buoyant tone today, removal of long existing credit restrictions being received with general approval. United States Steel was the chief feature, the first transaction in that stock comprising 12,000 shares at 93 to 94 against yeslerday 90 final price of 92%. Other industrials and equipments were ligher by 1 and 3 points with coppers, oils, and motors. Southern Pacific, Union Pacific and Reading were strongest of the rails while shippings and various peace specialities scored material gains.

Chricago, Jan. 25—Sensational breaks in the value of grain and provisions have resulted this week largely from attempts to judge prices in relation to world industrial and economic conditions. Corb this morning compared with a week age was down 2% to 13 cents, outs off 7% to 8% and provisions 82 to $2.25.

Assertions that food administration officials recognized the necessity of lower prices for consumers did much to start fresh declines in the corn market, and so likewise did agitation for the bill to provide that the 1919 wheat crop should be disposed of in open trade, the government paying the producer the difference from the guaranteed standard.

Reports of severe congestion in French and British ports, and of a virtual embargo on Canadian exports added force to begrish sentiment, which however, was temporarily checked by word abandonment of the government precition from Argentina led afterward to aggressive selling which was intensity. Nevertheless signs of sharp competition from Argentina led afterward to aggressive selling which was insuch foodstuffs as butter, eggs and potatoes.

Outs gave way with corn and like that cereal dropped to the lowest level yet this season.

Provisions were ruted by the same conditions as grain.

Chicago, Jan. 25.—Pront taking on a big scale by speculators who had been active in lorcing prices down rallied the corn market today. A reaction was also favored by the success of the bill appropriating $100,000,000 to relieve starvation in Europe. Att first, however, scatterer liquidation by discouraged holders had a temporary bearlsh effect. Opening prices which ranged from 24 cents abover to 4 cent advance, with May 1.174 to 1.184 and July 1.14% to 1.15 were followed by moderate further declines and then by an upturn in most cases to well above yesterday's finish.

Heavy liquidation which developed on the advance led to a renewal of acute weakeness and carried the market to the lowest price yet paid this segson except for the January delivery. The clase was sunsettled 2 to 5½ cents net lower with May 1.15 to 1.15% and July 1.13.

Outs were ruled by the action of corn. Offerings became scurce when the market began to advance. After opening the cent off to 5 cents up with May 1.5 to 50 cents prints, provisions showed decided weakness. In the later dealings lard was relatively ilrmer but pork and ribs finished at the greatest declines allower for a single day.

WALWORTH

Walworth, Jan. 24.—Albert Simonson, age 20, the first volunteer solder from Walworth and the first solder from Walworth and the first solder from Walworth and the first solder from over seas, returned Sunday. The eltizens hung out their flags and the mayor and other city officials, friends and neighbors gathered at his home to give him a hearty greeting.

He brought back graphic stories of the deeds done in France, the fighting was severe, but so rapidly did the Yanks advance they escaped much of the German barrage. The secret of their comparatively few casualities was speed and accuracy. He was gassed severely in one battle and was in a base hospital for several weeks.

His health is not the best but he came home with his limbs and considers himself lucky. The armistice spelled the word "Home Sweet Home".

Mr. Simonson said the biblical story of the good Samaritan was verified in the Red Cross, Y. M. C. A., Salvation Army, K. C., which were always reaching out a helping hand.

He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Simonson. The Royal Neighbor camp, the Modern Woodman camp, the Congregational 'church, and Walworth village all placed a service star on their flags in his honor soveral months ago.
